Packages - Bug #1927

[xfce4] Turning off the computer while XFCE has darkened the screen keeps that brightness on boot

2018-08-03 05:24 PM - ani

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Status: | open | % Done: | 0% |
| Priority: | bug | | |
| Assignee: | | | |
| Category: | | | |

Description

As the title says, if XFCE is darkening the brightness due to my settings that for example it should darken to 20% if no activity has been made in 40 seconds. This brightness is saved on shutdown and kept on login so the screen is darkened when it should be bright.