

Thank you for downloading my sounds from Bandcamp! This is the "License Agreement.

Standard License

Attribution / Credit Required

If you download sound effects from Bandcamp for free and you use it for your project that are public it requires attribution in form of a link or credit.

You should credit us with following suggestion on whatever project you are working on and you have finished and released.

We recommend something like:

"Sound effects obtained from <https://www.freetousesounds.com>"

"Additional sound effects from <https://www.freetousesounds.com>"

Word it however you like, but make sure our website is added to the credit. In that case, other creator gets to know us and maybe want to use these free sound effects as well?

If you have questions about the standard license just shoot me a message at marcel\(@\)freetousesounds.comfreetousesounds.com)

You can't (or you don't want to give us credit?)

Not a problem, If you pay for the sounds on Bandcamp and If its only 1 USD the credit attribution is automatically removed for this sound or library that you have downloaded.

If you buy the Complete Library for only 5 USD or the Pro Edited Library for 15 USD, the credit attribution is automatically removed on all sounds.

That means you don't need to give us credit anymore and as a thank you, you have unlimited access to all high quality wav files inside the Complete or Pro Edit librar with hundreds of Gigabyte and thousand recordings + counting.

I will raise the price after the 31.12.2018 so make sure you buy it before!

What you can use our free sound effects for...

You can use our sound effects for any non-commercial or commercial productions with no creative limits.

Following here is a list:

Films, television, radio, and documentaries

Commercials

Video games

Podcasts and audio dramas

Games and apps including software

YouTube productions

Blogs and websites

School projects especially for audio students (no credits needed at all)

Concerts, theater or even live events (Djs)

Important is that you know what is not allowed or for what you can't use our free sound effects for...

don't share our sound effects with any other person.

Better share the link to the sound.

don't sell our sound effects in original form. If you use our sounds to create something new, that is totally fine and of course, you can sell them.

don't download our sound effects with the attention to chop them into short pieces and sell them on other websites or platforms. I know people do that, but come on that's not cool.

If you want to do this in form of a cooperation and you have a commercial sound library page and you are interested in using my recorded sounds in your library lets talk about it. Shoot me a message at hello\(at\)freetousesounds.com

Free To Use Sounds has the copyright to the sound effects at all times and are licensed to you on a non-exclusive basis.

For the Complete Library & the Pro Edit Library, the license agreement is restricted to 1 person per license, so only one person is granted to use the sounds on one computer. Companies or schools who want to buy the Complete Library pay the amount per employers/pupils who work with the sounds.

For Example! 3 employers 3 times the price, 10 employers 10 times the price. 10 times is max! 20 people still 10 times!

Liability

Free To Use Sounds shall take the utmost care over the creation and maintenance of files and content.

Nevertheless, Free To Use Sounds can't offer a guarantee that files and content are suitable to and correct for the concrete requirements of the customer.

The customer selects and uses files and content according to the specifications that are part of every product description. Free To Use Sounds shall, therefore, accept no liability for incorrect usage of files and content.

Files and content made available by Free To Use Sounds serve as a recommendation only. They do not, in any case, constitute a substitute for the specialist qualifications the customer requires in order to work with the files and content provided. The customer shall, therefore, take legal and other specialist advice prior to using files and content if required. If the customer neglects to do so and damage occurs, as a result, Free To Use Sounds shall again be excluded from liability for those damages.

Third-Party Offers, Links

In some cases, Free To Use Sounds may provide the customer with links to third-party websites and/or partner offers. Free To Use Sounds has no control over their form and content and shall, therefore, accept no liability for the correctness, topicality, completeness, legality, and quality of the information made available. Links to other websites shall be provided solely for the convenience of portal users. Users who connect to third-party websites shall do so at their own risk.

*Royalty-free & License-Free applies to all sounds that I recorded that not contain third party sounds that might appear in the background of some recordings. Make sure if you download sounds that contain these sound effects that you use them at your own risk so you better cut them out before using.