Description zeropar, a user in the #parabola IRC channel suggested to package bisq. Note that I don't know if it's free/libre (we'll have to investigate that). Please note that I'm neither in favor nor against packaging these, and I'm not currently doing it (because I have college degree finishing/graduation paper/article to finish). Please talk to zeropar for more information instead.

bisq is a tool for trading cryptocurrencies using a decentralized system of trade requests. there are no alternatives to this piece of software that I am aware of.
