Description
I'm not sure that FSF-endorsed distros should be recommending/steering/whatever-you-want-to-call-it to ones that aren't.

i had not seen those recent edits - i dont think those distinctions are very informative anyways - most of those details are not fundamental characteristics of any distro but interchangeable defaults i do agree that it should not be comparing with non-FSDG distros but i would go a bit further and suggest removing that page entirely - the 'Rolling-vs-LTS' article that it links to does a good enough job at making the most relevant comparisons - the entire preface is just an excerpt from that longer article that sort of comparison across the FSDG distros may be suitable for the libreplanet or FSD wiki though i have hidden the page for now - if there is no more discussion about it soon, i will delete it
