

Packages - Freedom Issue #363

Remove nppangband from blacklist

2013-06-26 04:54 PM - israfel

Status:	fixed	% Done:	100%
Priority:	freedom issue
Assignee:	israfel
Category:
Description
nppangband is blacklisted because it "forbids commercial redistribution". While this may have been the case at one time, it's now dual-licensed under the GPLv2 and the noncommercial Angband license.

History

#2 - 2013-06-26 05:01 PM - israfel

Actually, I double-checked, and while the most recent version of nppangband is free software, the only version of nppangband available from the AUR is an older, proprietary version, and even in the most recent version, the sounds are still "freeware". It shouldn't be too hard to make an "nppangband-libre" package that takes the source off Github and removes the sounds, though. If I get the time, I'll see if I can make a PKGBUILD.

#4 - 2013-07-04 03:35 PM - israfel

The wiki told me to submit my SSH key to the dev mailing list, but it seems to be taking a while. Anyway, here's the PKGBUILD, patch, and a PKGBUILD+patch I made for Angband.

#5 - 2013-07-11 03:59 PM - Anonymous

thanks for your collaboration, i built the packages with your pkgbuild files, thanks so much!

Files

angband-libre.zip	2.56 KB	2013-07-04	israfel
nppangband-libre.zip	2.49 KB	2013-07-04	israfel