Description

The Arch live image includes Clonezilla, which afaik is free software. However, it is missing in Parabola's. I wonder why it was taken out.

If Clonezilla was somehow removed due to a freedom issue: There is a tool called partimage in our repos (which also happens to be used by Clonezilla). Perhaps it could be included?

Priority: low. Just a nice to have, because I use the Parabola live DVD for other maintenance and recovery tasks. Otherwise I'll use a live image from Clonezilla or partimage, or make my own.

I don't think it was taken out. I don't see parabolaiso updated from archiso after this was introduced in archiso. Anyway, I'd like to know how much size it adds counting all needed dependencies. Personally, I don't use Clonezilla, I use rsync instead.
